Bluebeard Will Point Out Wife's Grave to Detectives

LEAD WIRE TO TRIBUNE.
LOS ANGELES, May 1.—Two hands that laid the body of Nina Lee Delaney in her desert grave may be forced today to lift it out again for the eyes of the law to see.
For such are the plans of county authorities that "Bluebeard" Watson, Hurl, Harvey, etc., will be taken from his cot in the county hospital here and transported by train and ambulance to direct detectives to the lonely burial place of one of the four "wives" he confessed he killed.
Physicians are conducting an examination of Watson's condition of health and a test of his strength to see if he can withstand such a trip and such an ordeal, and if their answer to District Attorney Thomas Lee Woolwine, personally directing the amazing case, is in the affirmative, Watson will immediately be escorted to the desert where he buried Miss Delaney.
Despite a 24-hour search by deputy sheriffs, Woolwine and newspapermen in Bluebeard's self-confessed "graveyard" country, the body of Nina Delaney was not found and only the personal direction of the man who buried it there can reveal its whereabouts.
JORDERS BLUEBEARD DIRECT SEARCH.
District Attorney Thomas Lee Woolwine today ordered that the search for the grave of Nina Delaney, in Borego canyon, be abandoned until Charles Newton Harvey, Bluebeard murderer, is able to go to the scene and personally direct the search.
Woolwine saw Harvey at the hospital this morning and the prisoner said the body would be found if he was able to assist in the search. He said the body was nude when he buried it and that he had burned the woman's clothing near her grave. It is expected that Harvey will be sufficiently recovered within a week's time to make the trip.
WATSON MAY ESCAPE HANGING.
LEAD WIRE TO TRIBUNE.
LOS ANGELES, May 1.—Watson, confessed bigamist and murderer, will be indicted by a county grand jury next Monday for the murder of Nina Lee Delaney, he will then appear in court and plead guilty and in consideration of his plea and the saving to the state, the district attorney will ask for a sentence of life imprisonment for him instead of the death penalty.
His confession Thursday night to District Attorney Thomas Lee Woolwine was made on condition that the death penalty for him be dropped. Questioned by the district attorney how many women he had made away with, Harvey said:

"I will tell you all I can remember now. I will give you the names of the parties I know are missing on my account, but I did not kill all of them."
"Where did you marry Bertha Countess?"
"In Washington. We were in a boat on Lake Washington. There came up a squall and the water splashed over it. She got scared and went over."
Harvey admitted he had married Alice M. Ludvigson, but denied he had made away with her. He said they were in a boat on the St. Joe river in Idaho. They were fishing and the boat went through some logs and the woman was overbalanced and fell out into the water. He could not swim and was unable to rescue her.
"Now, isn't it possible you knew these two women you have just mentioned and did not realize it at this time?"
"It might be," replied Harvey.
JUDGE BARNETT TELLS OF WEDDING.
Charles Harvey, now known as Walter Andrew Watson, alleged confessed murderer of Nina Lee Delaney, for whose body the police of Los Angeles are searching, was married to Mrs. Delaney in San Francisco, December 5, by Justice of the Peace A. T. Barnett.
Justice Barnett said last night he remembered marrying him. He described Harvey as "good looking, subdued and respectable."
Harvey gave his business as a broker and asked that the wedding license be sent to Corning, according to Judge Barnett.
After their wedding, the couple lived at the Flaming hotel on Geary street, it was said, and later left for the southern part of the state.

STRANGER AMUCK PURSUES COUPLE

The police today are trying to solve the problem of the "mystery man" who early this morning ran amuck on Telegraph avenue, and after trying to batter down the door of a house at 1946 Telegraph avenue with a slab of concrete, chased a man and woman into a house next door.
At 5:30 this morning this police received a call for help from the occupants of the house where the man was trying to break in. They told the police of the terrific blows being dealt the front door, and stated that they feared the man was a maniac.
In the meantime, 527 Nineteenth street, and Mrs. Helen Ryan, 1944 Telegraph avenue, passed the house where the man was hammering at the door with the concrete slab. He immediately desired from his efforts to break into the house, rushed down the steps and pursued Myers and Mrs. Ryan.
They ran into the residence of Mrs. Ryan at 1944 Telegraph avenue, closely followed by the mystery man, and slammed and locked the door in his face. He immediately began to pound with the fragment of concrete, and if the police had not arrived at that moment, the door would have been smashed in, according to the officers.
Inspectors Joe Havens and John Gannaway overpowered the man and took him to the Central police station. He gave the name of Vernon Broad, but refused to explain his actions. He was well dressed, and the police say there was no evidence that he was drunk. He is being held for investigation. This morning Chief B. F. Becker and Sergeant Fred Hulse of the Piedmont police will look the man over in connection with the Carlson murder case.

WHEN THE STOMACH GOES ON A STRIKE

Good, red blood, which means good well supplied with oxygen, is necessary to healthy digestion. Upon the blood depends the flow of the gastric fluids, the perfect action of the muscles of the stomach and the assimilation of the digested food. That is why a debilitated, run-down condition so often causes the stomach to go on a strike.

The success of the tonic treatment in cases of stomach trouble or indigestion is illustrated by the experience of Mr. W. M. McCann, of 2323 Bellefontaine avenue, Alameda City, Cal.

"Indigestion did not appear suddenly with me," says Mr. McCann. "Its appearance was so gradual that my blood was pretty well run down and weak before I realized it. I suffered from cramps and a feeling of fullness long after a meal, especially at night. The pains seemed to become worse when I tried to get to sleep. I grew nervous and had sudden dizzy spells and was bilious at times."

"I read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and procured a box. A few days after starting the treatment, I felt a little better and went on with the treatment. Gradually my blood became richer and then I was able to eat a hearty meal and it was evident that my food was digested for I no longer suffered from cramps or other stomach pains. I sleep well now and feel better in every way than I have in a long time. I strongly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills act directly in supplying the elements that the blood lacks and enable it to properly nourish the nerves and the organs of the body. In this way, they are useful in neurological, indigestion and the run down condition resulting from colds, influenza and fevers.

A booklet, "What to Eat and How to Eat," which tells about this treatment, will be sent free on request by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. All druggists sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 60 cents per box. Advertisment.

EASTBAY SOCIETY NEWS

Wedding Takes Place in Trinity Church

A surprise to Eastbay society was the marriage today of Miss Abbie Chickering and Jack C. Arthur of San Jose, the ceremony taking place in Trinity Episcopal Church, Rev. Lloyd Thomas, rector, officiating, in the presence of close friends and relatives. Miss Ruth Norrison was bridesmaid and wore a smart frock of pink georgette with which she carried a flower bouquet of pink bridesmaid roses and maidenhair fern.

Meroy Burke of San Jose was best man. The bride wore the usual wedding gown of white georgette and formal veil and orange blossoms. Ornaments and lilies of the valley were in the shower bouquet. A wedding breakfast was served later.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Chickering of Fifty-third street, Oakland. Their return from their honeymoon the couple will reside in an attractive home in San Jose.

RETROTHAL IS TOLD AT DINNER

An dinner given at the Alpha Delta Chi sorority house, recently, the engagement of Miss Lena May Gordon and Douglas Aikin was formally announced. Miss Gordon was a bridesmaid at the wedding of Miss Marion Hayland and Frank Kelsey Haight. Retrothal cards were concealed within the corsage bouquets at each guest's place.

Miss Gordon is a member of this year's graduation class at the University of California. Her fiancé is a University of California man and is now in business in Colorado. Wedding will not take place until the fall.

The May Day casino ball and special dinner at the Casa del Rey in Santa Cruz tonight will attract hundreds to that hostelry, opening the summer season.

MISS OLDS TO PLAY OVER THE BAY

Miss Beatrice Olds of Berkeley will take a prominent part in "A Game of Solitaire" to be played in San Francisco at the program to be given by the Western Arts Association of San Francisco at the Old Players Clubhouse in Clay street, May 2. A series of three one-act plays will be given. The first will be "Killarney Shadows" by Bennett, with Max O'Keefe in the leading role; second, "Confession," dramatized from Guy de Maupassant. Miss Ella Sexton wrote "A Game of Solitaire," in which Miss Olds will star.

Miss Hazel A. Pardee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Pardee, was married April 30 to Ralph H. Nattress at St. Andrew's Church. Relatives and close friends witnessed the ceremony. The couple will spend their honeymoon at Brackon Brea in the Santa Cruz mountains.

Oakland Will Seek Mothers' Next Session

BY EDNA H. KINARD

Oakland will become the convention city for the California Congress of Mothers next year if persuasion and desire of that eloquent party of women who are going south next month avail anything. Aside from what they have to promise by way of hospitality, accommodations and eagerness, the local contingent have the silent argument in their favor that only a few brave municipalities are willing to entertain any prolonged meeting be it state or national. Even as great a problem of finding those who will assume leadership in organizations of any nature, is the problem of locating a convention city. Oakland Mothers, however, are preparing to take south with them the support of the local commercial organizations and are claiming the co-operation of the neighboring districts.

The invitation will be presented before the state congress meeting in Los Angeles for four days, beginning May 18. The Credentials committee is preparing to handle from 1000 to 1400 official delegates while the local board are estimating that attendance at the sessions will be between 2500 and 3000 daily. Mrs. H. J. Ewing of San Jose, is being honored for president of the California Congress of Mothers, to succeed Dr. Jessie A. Russell, who retires after three years' service. The leadership returns to the north with the coming election. The name of Mrs. Ewing meets with favor in both ends of the state.

LOYALTY PROGRAM IS BEING MATURED

There will come shortly an announcement of the program of Americanization which will be carried forward throughout California by the combined agencies which have to do with making local patriots out of those who have come to these shores as strangers. Months have been given to its study and its preparation. Haste and swift judgments have not been permitted to mar its efficiency. Deliberately two representatives from the University of California, the state housing and immigration commission, and the California Federation of Women's Clubs, have set to work to provide the best working plan which is possible for the assimilation of the foreigner into California's community life.

SECOND DAY NURSERY TO BE OPENED SOON

The experiment of the day nursery in the Prescott School, inaugurated under the Oakland Federation of Mothers' Clubs and the School Women's Club of this city, has proved so worthy an institution that it will be repeated. The second nursery where little folk will be cared for during the daylight hours while their mothers must be about other business than baby welfare, will probably be opened shortly at the Clawson School. The province of the nursery covers all phases of child and family life, including not only physical care but diet and clothing and general education. The new infant station will be financed by the Junior Red Cross.

FEDERATION STRENGTH IS AT RECORD MARK

California Federation of Women's Clubs is coming up to its annual meeting with a record of fifty new organizations added to its strength since Mrs. Aaron Schloss a year ago took over leadership of the important body of women. Calaveras county, which is a part of Alameda district, has never been able to report a federated club. Women of that district are becoming enthusiastic over the idea to become identified with the federated movement. Mrs. Schloss and Mrs. Claude Leech, district president, will tour that county early in the fall to organize such clubs as the Calaveras women petition for.

MUSIC AND TRAVEL TO BE CLUB THEMES

An afternoon devoted to travel is planned by Park Boulevard Woman's Club on Monday with a delightful musical program to supplement its interests. A group of songs composed by the husband of the day's hostess, Mrs. B. W. Bours, will be offered by Mrs. E. M. Becker, accompanied by Mrs. Laura Baker.

Fake. A tea will round out the last meeting of the season.

ALL DEBTS ARE PAID BY PARENT-TEACHERS

Cleveland Parent-Teacher Association has met all its obligations on the Victoria which it has presented to the school. The card party at the Home Club last month put the Mothers out of debt. A review of the annual district convention, California Congress of Mothers, in San Mateo, was given by Mrs. F. Cole at the meeting on April 27.

WOMEN TO MEET

The annual meeting of the School Women's Club will be held next Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Oakland High school, room 32. Mrs. J. George Short and Miss Mary Friedrich are to be the principal speakers.

The use of water will not be restricted this season-

The East Bay Water Company announces that there will be no restriction in the use of water in Oakland, Alameda, Berkeley, Richmond, and the communities served by this company, during the coming summer months.

While there is a shortage of water throughout the state due to the lack of rainfall, the resources of the Water Company are adequate to take care of all normal needs. So well planned are the pumping, distributing, and storage systems of this company, that no one need be anxious or apprehensive as to a failure in the supply.

Those who have hesitated in planting gardens or lawns may proceed with their plans with the full assurance that there will be a sufficient supply of water to meet this season's needs.

Use all the water you need, but do not waste it. Careless and extravagant use only causes you needless expense.

"The Boy Samuel"

1 Samuel.
3:1-13, 19, 20.

1. And the child Samuel ministered unto the Lord before Eli. And the word of the Lord was precious in those days; there was no open vision.

2. And it came to pass in that time, when Eli was laid down, that Samuel lay down also, and he would not get up.

3. And the Lord called unto him, and said, Samuel. Then he answered and said, Here I am.

4. That the Lord called Samuel, and he answered, Here I am.

5. And he ran unto Eli, and said, Here I am; for thou calledst me. And he said, I called not; lie down again. And he went and lay down.

6. And the Lord called yet again, Samuel. And he arose and went to Eli, and said, Here I am; for thou calledst me. And he answered, I called not, my son; lie down again.

7. And Samuel did not say aught, for he was afraid to reveal the vision unto him.

8. And the Lord called Samuel again the third time, and he arose and went to Eli, and said, Here I am; for thou calledst me. Here I am; for thou calledst me.

9. Therefore Eli said unto Samuel, lay down. And he shall be, if he call thee, that thou shalt answer, saying, Here I am. So Samuel lay down, and he went and lay down in his place, and the Lord called him the third time, and he answered, Here I am.

10. And the Lord came and stood upon him, and called him by name, Samuel. Then Samuel answered and said, Here I am.

11. And the Lord said to Samuel, Behold I will do a thing in Israel, at which both the ears of everyone that heareth it shall tingle.

12. In that day I will perform against Eli all things which I have spoken concerning his house; when I begin, I will also make an end.

13. For I have told him that I will judge his house, because he despised the day of sacrifice, and because his sons made themselves vile, and he restrained them.

14. And Samuel grew, and was beloved unto Eli, and did let none of his words fall to the ground.

15. And all Israel from Dan even to Beer-sheba knew that Samuel was established to be a prophet of the Lord.

DR. WHITAKER WILL PREACH ON WOMANHOOD

Dr. James Whitaker, pastor of Eighth Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, will preach the third sermon in the series on "Ruling Womanhood" at the morning hour. The special theme will be "Deborah the Drudge." The thought will be, "How have women served in the critical periods of the nation's life, and how can they serve today?" The discussion will be interesting. At the evening hour, Dr. Whitaker will preach on "Can Man Be Made Whole?" It will need more than a changed social or economic order to redeem the world. This has been everywhere demonstrated in recent years. The church's devotion to social work and some interesting meetings are being planned. The Sunday school is doing fine work and the numbers are increasing. A great social in preparation for the scholars and parents. The boys' club is to have a fine moonlight hike soon.

On Monday evening, May 3, Dr. H. B. Milnes, superintendent of the Oakland district, will hold the Third Quarterly Conference and at 8 o'clock will give an illustrated lecture on "The Church's Social Service." This will be both interesting and educational and the public is invited to attend. There will be no admission to the church.

At the B. Y. P. U. meeting at 6:15 the topic for discussion will be "How to Show Sympathy." Helen Wilson and Irene Clinton will be the leaders. The young people of the community will be a cordial welcome to this service.

At 7:15 there will be an inspirational service when the final reports of the teams will be given concerning the financial campaign of the past week. Rev. D. D. Williams, of San Francisco, will bring a short message of inspiration and encouragement to the church as it faces its new task in this new day. It is hoped that final reports will be given at this time by visiting teams showing the people's contribution for missionary work at home and abroad.

PASTOR TO TAKE TRIP. The 11 o'clock service of the Danish-Norwegian Baptist church will be devoted to considering and observing the Lord's Supper. The pastor, Rev. P. Petersen, will be in charge. CURRENT EVENTS

FIRST CHRISTIAN EFFORTS. The C. E. society of the First Christian Church has managed to keep ahead of Fresno, its closest competitor, for the banner. Many new members, both active and honorary, have been gained as well as added inspiration. The topic for Sunday evening will be "How to Show Sympathy" (Matthew 25:40). This will be a very interesting and helpful service begins at 6:15.

FRIENDS CHURCH. The Friends Church will be held hereafter at 7 o'clock in the evening. The church is a part of the church of the Friends. The topic "How to Show Sympathy" will be the subject of the evening. All young people are invited to take part in the service.

EXECUTIVE NEWS. At a banquet held April 19, in honor of Clarence Hamilton, a new and yet old custom was formed. This was the presentation of a pin to the executive and to the president. This custom has been followed in the State of California. The pin is a symbol of the American Church Union for honor and leadership.

THE CHRISTIAN (Harrison Grill). The county officers and friends gathered to attend the county executive. The gathering of young people was the largest that the Clarence Hamilton-Sprague team had yet met in the first eighteen years of the county. The total attendance was 194.

The goal this year for the State convention, Fresno, June 25-30, has been set for 4000 and Alameda county union has been allotted 250. This number will be approximately met by the different church societies within the next few weeks.

THE CHRISTIAN ENDAVOR. Summer conference will be held at Mount Hermon, August 10-17.

CLARENCE HAMILTON. Clarence Hamilton brought greetings to California Endavorers from a great many eastern and southern states and expressed his appreciation of the words: "I am glad to be in California" and that it was a "rare treat" because of what C. E. means in California.

Dr. Clark, the one who founded Christian Endavor, is at present engaged in work overseas re-establishing churches in the war torn regions of Europe.

INTERMEDIATE RALLY. An intermediate rally will be held in the Oakland Y. M. C. A. Monday evening at 8:30. Paul Brown will be there with a quartette and new music and some interesting conversation. The intermediate superintendent wishes that all intermediate churches be there as Paul Brown has a message for them.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN C. E. Attendance records were broken at the C. E. meeting last Sunday of the year.

Will Launch New Church At Elmhurst

Tomorrow will be a red letter day in the history of the work of the First Christian Church as they are launching the first missionary church in the part of the city. The pastor, outlining the plan, says that Rev. Van Winkle, at the beginning of his work here, The work of the Elmhurst Extensio Church has grown to such an extent that it was thought advisable to organize it as a separate working body. Tulsa will be doing a valuable tomorrow afternoon at 6 o'clock when all the churches around the bay are expected to have four-representatives present to take part in the recent revival meetings held at Elmhurst by Rev. Van Vliet have resulted in forty-four additions. Rev. J. A. Shoplough, the pastor of the Extension Church, is proven himself to be just the right man to go on with the "hallelujah" work. The next service are held at St. Nicholas avenue and East Fourteenth street.

Rev. Van Vliet will speak at the First Christian Church at the regular morning worship at ten o'clock this afternoon. God bless the Word of the Church and in the evening on Elmhurst.

BERKELEY'S ATTITUDE ON WATER.

Berkeley's city council probably was done an injustice by the published statement that it had gone on record as opposed to the report of the Eastbay Water Commission, its engineering committee and the expert hydraulic engineer employed to make a technical survey, regarding the water situation as related to the Eastbay cities. While the engineer has made his report, which has been unanimously approved by the engineering committee of the Commission, the Water Commission has not yet submitted its final recommendations to the municipal governments which created it. Hence the report regarding Berkeley's action must be premature.

In any event it is impossible that the Berkeley City Council has gone over that report with the care and caution it deserves. The statement that the majority of the Berkeley Council favor the Hetch Hetchy project is given the color of truth, however, by the fact that City Engineer O'Shaughnessy of San Francisco has proffered his services without compensation, to Berkeley, in the scheme to develop a small, temporary independent supply for that city.

This and other evidence give ground for the suspicion that the San Francisco engineer is not entirely free from a desire to intrigue against practical cooperation among the Eastbay cities in the matter of obtaining an adequate water supply for the whole district. And this disposition to interfere with the proper and commendable efforts of the Eastbay cities to arrive at an effective understanding regarding the vital question of water may reasonably be taken as a forecast of what might happen should the Eastbay cities finally decide to depend upon San Francisco and the Hetch Hetchy for their water.

Berkeley is not to be criticized for accepting the gratuitous service of Mr. O'Shaughnessy, since it has been offered. But Berkeley will be open to the sharpest criticism if it accepts or rejects any scheme, even that of Engineer Harroun and the Eastbay Water Commission, in a violent and haphazard manner, without the most careful examination of all the details. The council is at least obligated to take the citizens of Berkeley into its confidence before it officially undertakes any water project.

The Tribune is not at this time recommending the Eel River or any other project. It has simply pointed out that the experts have made a very strong argument in its favor. But as between the Eel River and the Hetch Hetchy projects, the former will cost the Eastbay cities less than half the latter, or mean a saving, according to the engineer's estimates, of $36,000,000 for the first unit. With all other circumstances equal, and none seem to be to the disadvantage of Eel River in comparison with Hetch Hetchy, this is a pretty hard nut to crack. A saving of $36,000,000 must appeal to the people of any community.

If for any reason, however, the Eastbay cities turn to Hetch Hetchy and San Francisco for their necessary water supply they should do so together, sharing the cost on the basis of population and consumption. If they seek any other supply they should likewise stand together. On the basis of a cost of approximately $45,000,000 for the first stage of Eel River development, yielding 50,000,000 gallons of water daily, Berkeley's share of the expense would be about $7,500,000. Oakland's share would be approximately $28,000,000. These are large money items and the purpose for which they are contemplated is of vital importance.

Manifestly the wise and proper course is for the Eastbay people and the several municipal governments to cooperate honestly toward the solution of the water problem, which is a problem common to all. Yielding to agents of dissension, who offer their services free, would be a bad thing for all and bad for each. If Berkeley wants to develop a new water supply independent of the other communities that is largely her affair and the unnecessary cost will be her burden, but in justice to her neighbors she should make her decision upon the merits of the several proposals and not upon political intrigue.

ROMANCE, BUT NO CHRONICLER?

To the young writer who would be first to give to literature the color and life of a field unexplored in letters there may be submitted the possibilities of the oil lands. In the rush of thousands to the Southwest, to Wyoming, and to Montana there should be opportunity for fiction to rival that given the world when a similar crowding was evident in the gold fields. The surprising thing, in view of the fact that oil rushes are as old as two generations, is that it has not been done before.

The mule trains and prairie schooners, the bad men and packed cemeteries, and the picturesque language of the grub-stake and the mother-lode may not be apparent but certainly there is material in the races of automobiles across deserts, the springing to life of cities about the skeleton-frames of the wells and the dramatic possibilities of the gusher that brings fortune. And there is a separate language for the business, a definite type of promoter, the same hopeful individual who, in gold fields, would be the ever confident prospector. Such towns as "Big Whip" and "Mary Jane" have sprung up and are supporting hundreds of wealth-seekers. There are wonderfully engraved stock certificates, pipe lines, and tank-ships, and behind all there is a background of business that was lacking in the other field.

Who is going to be the Bayard Taylor, Mark Twain, or Bret Harte of the oil field?

RECORD QUANTITY AND PRICES.

With all the price boosting in connection with sugar, and all the charges and denials of hoarding and profiteering, some figures have just been published by the National City Bank of New York which would excite popular interest if the public was not impatient with the unprecedented affliction of sugar retailing throughout the country at from 25 to 32 cents a pound. These figures concern importations of sugar.

Judging from sugar already brought into the country and the quantity enroute and scheduled to arrive, the New York bank estimates that the importations for the fiscal year ending June 30 next—only two months hence—will total about nine billion pounds. This is a billion and a quarter pounds more than the importations for the fiscal year ending last June. This is an increase in imported sugar of slightly more than sixteen percent.

Thus while the prices of sugar are highest of record, the quantity brought into the country is the largest of record. Sugar consumption is undeniably higher than in pre-war years, but under the pressure of increasing prices it is not easy to conclude that consumption for the twelve months ending June 30 will have been sixteen percent greater than for the preceding twelve months. The alternative is a suspicion that hoarding and market manipulation is really a factor in present prices.

It is not perhaps as large a factor as the collusion of the government with the Louisiana and Mississippi cane growers in boosting the price of crude sugar over 100 percent, but it is important enough to demand the attention of the government. Sugar was imported in February, 1919, at 5.36 cents a pound and in February, 1920, at 9.44 cents. A thorough search would no doubt disclose large quantities of the 5.36 cent and the 9.44 cent sugar held by jobbers and now being sold to the retail trade at 23 to 30 cents a pound. Such sugar was seized yesterday by government agents in Georgia and Kansas.

One of the surest ways to bring down prices is for the public to economize and restrict sugar consumption in every possible way. With the heavy imports, decreased consumption would destroy the opportunity for unreasonable prices.

A CHANGE OF PLANS?

The denial of William E. Johnson that the Anti-Saloon League or any other American organization is going into any other country to make a fight for prohibition would indicate a change of plans or else a passive inclination not to correct what has long been a popular error. Certainly it was said, and with apparent official sanction, that the next move was to be England and the Orient, and the departure of Johnson about a year ago was heralded as one of the first big moves in the world-wide campaign.

"We want to arouse interest in prohibition," said Johnson on his return to New York, "and then those who are interested can fight with their own weapons. We are not going into any other country to make a fight."

Johnson, who was given the name "Pussyfoot" in his days of service as a revenue man on the frontier, says that England will be dry in ten years, that France is leaning toward the abolition of alcoholic liquors, and that Estonia is now engaged in a struggle which will make it dry. He also predicts that India will be under government prohibition within a few years.

The man who gave his eye in the fight and who took the distressing accident in a spirit that won him friends among the opponents of his arguments is not at all the accepted picture of the professional prohibitionist. One of his first remarks when he landed on home soil was that when he looked through his glass eye he could see a dry Europe within a very few years.

The remark betrays a sense of humor and a certain commendable disregard for misfortune. It contains, it may be that Johnson is purposefully avoiding the basing of any optimism on what he saw with his good eye.

The best kind of trousers to wear, if one is to beat the H. C. L., is one with no pockets for the bankroll.

The sugar situation has provided a few more lumps in the path of the attorney general.

NOTES and COMMENT

The San Francisco barbers have been informed by City Attorney Hall that it is impossible to make it a crime for barbers to keep their shops open on Sundays by enacting an ordinance. Some who do not want to keep their shops open would like to impose such restraint on some who do, but there seems no good way to get at it.

We are advised that two million pounds of Tasmanian spuds may arrive in a month, to fill a much felt want. From such data as we find at hand it is impossible to form an opinion as to whether Tasmanian potatoes are so superior that they will make a hit with our epicures regardless, but in a month the new California crop will be on hand in some abundance—and the California variety has always satisfied the palate when it did not cause such a pain in the pocket.

It appears in a despatch that the New York Spreckels, also a refiner, has expressed himself to the effect that he does not see any valid reason for the tremendous boost in the price of sugar. All other refiners of record are accepting their fate—or fortune—and making some show of explaining it. It must be concluded that this Mr. Spreckels has some insight of the sugar business, and a considerable perplexity results.

The Christian Science Monitor, noting the triumph of Mr. Bryan in the Nebraska primaries, comments that the result seems to show that the voters in Nebraska, outside the principal cities, care more for prohibition than they do about sticking close to party affiliation. For it is to be remembered that the Hittchcock opposition to Mr. Bryan, boiled down, was chiefly the opposition of the wets. And thus we get a more distinct angle on a notable contest.

The story of the four very youthful San Francisco bandits is a remarkable one, and from a sociological view, possibly an alarming one. That four boys under twenty should turn highwaymen, rob dozens, and when caught tell of it with such nonchalance, is certainly not reassuring as to the rising generation.

The scare that went over the country when some ripe olives were reported as having developed a new ptomaine put that important and growing industry somewhat out of joint—so much so that a fund has been raised by olive growers to be expended in disabusing the public mind. Ripe olives, as they have been put up in California, are not only a great relish, but an important food, and their excellence should be duly exploited.

Not necessary to have an extensive acquaintance with the girls of Chicago to conclude that they have leveled headed. This fact is going around as to denims and ginghams doesn't make a bit with them. They are not going to send their silk stockings into eclipse just for a fad which hasn't a chance of accomplishing anything.

One of the curious results of the high-wage trend is that the famous North Star gold mine of Grass Valley is going to curtail, and possibly shut down. Everything has been boosted in price except gold, and it has come about that it is no longer profitable to take it out of a perfectly good and yielding mine. You may be able to beat this, but until you do there will be doubts.

That is an unusual reason given by a Boston headline writer in support of his prediction that Senator Poinsett will lose the New York presidential race. It is that his name is too long to work up well in a single-column head. There is no doubt that Senator Poinsett would be glad if that was the only obstacle to his election.

That millenium that was to be brought about by Bolshevik rule may be on its way, but when we read of 9641 political executions in less than two years we may be justified in concluding that it is still some ways off.

Seventy-five cent haircuts are reported by wire as a probability for Chicago. The designation of "Long-hairs" went out with clipped tonsors and it is a way to come back now, and Chicago's considerable class that farther back still was wont to neglect its poll may come into its own again.

Some of the Los Angeles girl who was a bride and did not know it for a week. If the story had come from any other quarter it would have been laughed at. Even as it is, it is difficult to see how it is to be turned into a climate ad.

SPIRIT OF THE STATE PRESS

Prohibition is the national policy of the United States, and will continue so unless the Supreme Court should hold that Amendment 18 is void, which it is not likely to do. A great many good Americans, while they resent the methods of the political prohibitionists of the land, cheerfully accept the new condition and do not see the old restored. But, seemingly, there are a few objectors and their friends who cannot let the question rest.—Bakersfield Californian.

Everybody is going into the movies. Even Judge Ben Lindsey has come out from Colorado to Los Angeles to take a part in a film production which centers about the doing of the boys. Wherever Judge Lindsey is, it is certain he is in the right place and doing a good service for boys, even if he has forsaken the judicial ermine and broken into the movies.—Stockton Record.

The government is trying to make it hard for men to doze in the night, out they will nevertheless keep on keeping out. Of course, the effort and talent expended in dodging might, if properly directed, pay the public debt in a few years, but we are human.—Richmond News.

The case of the woman who pulled a gun and frightened a burglar out of her house is respectfully submitted to Chester Rowell as material for an anti-gun keeping editorial.—Hartford Sentinel.

GENEVA OF THE BALKANS

Scutari, which Yugoslavia (now officially the kingdom of the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes) is reported to be willing to cede to Italy in exchange for Trieste is described in a bulletin of the National Geographic Society as follows:

"Scutari, nestled between the limp waters of Lake Scutari, with its verdant islets, and the mountains of northern Albania, snow-capped for the greater part of the year, rising to form an Alp-like background.

"But the comparison ceases with the setting. Instead of a city of marble and bronze, Scutari is a town of mud and brick, and of the most primitive and least known places of Europe. It took the World War to make its name more recognizable than it was when a letter addressed 'Albania' was returned from Albany, N. Y., to its English sender with the notation 'Not for Albany; try Europe.'

"East met West in Scutari before the Turkish rule was lifted in 1913. Closely barred windows, few women on the streets, and those heavily veiled, proclaimed the Mohammedan quarter; while more familiar homes, and a medley of Venetian, Greek and Slav costumes belokened the Christian section. Mohammedan and Christian necessarily met on street and in shop, but, as one writer has put it, the very air is electrified with their intense suppressed hatred of each other.

"Always toward the Christian quarter were trained Turkish guns from the medieval fort on the minaret. Gibraltar rock behind the city. Yet so confident was the Turk of the Albanian loyalty which pledged that back now, and Chicago's considerable class that farther back still was wont to neglect its poll may come into its own again.

"Perhaps the Venetian influence also accounts for the gondola-like boats that ply on Lake Scutari. To each Scutari from any Montenegrin town in the north side of Lake Scutari one boards a 'londra.' The sharp-pointed prow and stern rise high out of the water. Oarsmen propel it by short, quick jerks, often accompanying their strokes by a wild barbaric chant. There is but one touch of the modern in the passenger stand, as they do on some American ferry-boats.

"Despite its past obscurity, Scutari is one of the oldest cities of Europe. It was the seat of the Illyrian kings centuries before Christ. As the descendants of the tribes of those centuries have a more European than the older most European nations. Dr. Edwin A. Grosvenor states, 'It is reasonable to regard them as the most ancient people of southeastern Europe, descendants of the Pelasgi.'

"In northern Albania feudal and tribal practices of the middle ages survive, and the light impress of civilization is made upon Scutari itself is denoted by a traveler who reported that, upon one occasion, a gentleman pointed to a passerby and said, with admiration, 'That is a brave man, much respected; he has killed more of his fellow townsmen than any other Scutarian.'

"But the World War brought Albania into sudden contact with modern ideas and, like some of the mountain people of our own country, they won admiration for fine physique and keen minds, unimpaired by soft living. First the Austrian overran Albania, pushing south of Scutari to Durazzo, in February, 1916; but they were routed by the Italians, who proclaimed Albania an independent country in June, 1917, and set up a provisional government at Durazzo.

"Scutari has a population estimated at $5,000. It lies fourteen miles inland from the Adriatic. Near it is the changeable course of the Boyana, where a kind of sardine is caught in large quantity. Fish are plentiful in Lake Scutari, which also is noted for its aquatic birds.

ABOUT DIAMONDS.

The Treasury Department, in announcing the record-breaking customs receipts taken in at the port of New York in the month of March, points out that at the present time two-thirds of the precious stones of the world, especially diamonds, are now owned in this country.

What this means of course is that this proportion of all the stones which had been put on the market had been brought here. Nobody apart from those on the inside knows the value of the diamonds in the possession of the De Beers company, a South African concern which is interested in seeing that the market is not flooded with the products of its mines to the extent of bringing down the price. Besides, the richness of certain great deposits recently discovered is still uncertain. But there can be no doubt that the present great demand on this side of the Atlantic will result in the absorption of a large part of the reserve stock.

Prices of diamonds have gone up some 600 per cent since the year before the war. In view of the fact that they serve many purposes, they have appealed particularly to the new well-to-do among the Western farmers and laborers. Thus they are ornamental, are symbols of prosperity, are easily taken care of, are not subject to deterioration and can be sold readily.

Amsterdam is still the seat of the diamond cutting industry and chief distribution point. But owing to the fact that the center of gravity of the trade has been shifted there is no knowing what changes may be brought about as a result of the main market being on this side of the Atlantic—New York Sun and Herald.

Yeast Now Used to Banish Pimples and Other Eruptions

By DR. LEONARD K. HIRSHBERG, A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins University)

If the Egyptians had not known how to make bread with yeast, the shape of their noses might have been different and the map of the world thus helped to change the face of those ancients, but a part of the medical profession has come to look upon the digestive and laxative enzymes of the yeast cake as valuable adjuncts to the treatment of facial blemishes of a particular kind.

The fairest complexion may be spoiled occasionally by those abominable spots, pimples, blackheads, large pores and the rest of these too well marshaled troops of imperfection. Of the various and sundry origins of such trouble makers, starches, sugars and their vegetable brothers, sisters and offspring are perhaps the worst.

Sugars and spice and everything nice, that is what the features of many girls are made of jams, jellies, marmalades, syrups, honeys, pies, pastries, candies, puddings, cereals, pastes, cakes, cocoa, coffee, chocolate, soups, custards and sweets of any nature are prone to become miasmas of mischief.

Unless the victim is able by some digestive hook or crook to macerate and dissolve away all such "carbonydrate" fermentation and decay the tender flesh and blood, coddled by an indoor life, dark homes and offices, lack of vitamins and constipation, boils, eruptions and seethes like a witch's cauldron.

Dr. O. L. Levin, a New York colleague and dermatologist, says that spices and condiments tend to cause reflex dilatation of the cutaneous vessels and thus increase the congestion of the skin. It may be stated that the diet should be low in carbohydrates, non-irritating and plain.

Milk, cream, yeast, fermented milks and vegetables should constitute the main food. Meats or fish once a day, cheese, cool, fresh fruit that is not sweet and bread form a diet sufficient to provide ample nourishment as well as satisfy the patient's appetite.

Yeast cakes have recently come into use as a help to the human digestive canal. For the victims of several skin eruptions half a cake of yeast taken after meals plants a flora in the alimentary tract which exerts a digestive ferment capable of much destruction to starches, sugars and other sweets.

The powerful action of the yeast as a digestive solvent of waste and decay as well as its distraction to the acne bacilli and other pus germs makes it peculiarly appropriate as a treatment for these enemies to beauty.

Yeast is not a medicine. It can be used by all who eat as well as druggists and bakers. A cake of yeast costs about 2 cents.

Yeast is a mild laxative to some persons, especially to those whose sluggish intestines make them subject to boils and blackheads.
